

NZ ORGAN NEWS

Welcome to our NZ Organ concert newsletter—your front-row seat to upcoming performances on the magnificent Rieger organ in the Christchurch Town Hall.

We'll be in touch only when there's something worth hearing about: news of forthcoming solo concerts on this extraordinary instrument. No clutter, no overload—just the helpful stuff. As a result, these emails will appear less often than our previous joint newsletters with Pipeline Press.

Still keen on a broader helping of organ life—quirky finds, gentle humour, Dudley the cat, giveaways, competitions, and the occasional surprise? You can sign up for our other newsletter or read past issues at PipelinePress newsletters signup.

COMING SOON!

King's Birthday Annual Christchurch Town Hall Organ Concert

– A Festival Highlight –

Celebrate the King's Birthday weekend with a special organ concert by organ curator Martin Setchell, presented as part of the New Zealand

Organ Association Festival.

Monday 1 June, 2:00pm

Join us for an inspiring afternoon of magnificent organ music, performed by one of New Zealand's leading organists on this remarkable instrument. Expect a varied and engaging programme that showcases the full colour and power of the organ. Big sounds, quiet moments, and everything in between—this is the organ at its most exciting. Whether you're a devoted organ buff or just in the mood for something different, come along and enjoy the ride.

All are warmly welcome – whether you're a seasoned enthusiast or simply curious to experience something a little different. AND, it's free!

And the other great news?

This year you can just walk right up to the Town Hall and go in. Unlike past years, there is no need for pre-registration. It couldn't be easier. And although there is no entry fee, a koha would be greatly appreciated .

So note this event on your calendar or in your diary now - it's one you won't want to miss!
